Don't get caught "Short Handed" with a program that leaves out the most important part, Task, Equipment, and the Environment. Your training programs must be "UNIQUE"!

Shephard's training programs are designed to meet the demands of a changing environment. As your training requirements change, your training materials must be updated. Shephard's will train your designated teammates on how to make cost effective training materials modifications to keep your employees abreast of "need to know" information.

Training programs designed by Shephard's will assist you in setting new safety standards and improve operator efficiency, while at the same time lowering operating costs.
